

International Relations (Junior) Search, 2009-2010

The Department of Political Science at the University of Notre Dame invites applications for a tenure track position at the assistant professor level in the field of international relations. Applications from all subfields within international relations are welcome. The strongest applicants will show promise of excellence in research and teaching and a desire to be an active and productive colleague among a strong cohort of faculty with diverse substantive and methodological orientations. The Department particularly seeks applications from minorities, women, Catholics, and those who are attracted to a university with a Catholic identity. Further information about Notre Dame is available at Notre Dame's College of Arts and Letters website: <http://al.nd.edu/resources/facultyandstaff/prospectivefacultyfaq/>. Notre Dame is an EO employer. Applicants should send a CV and letter of interest, writing sample(s), three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations to: Daniel Lindley, Chair, International Relations Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 217 O'Shaughnessy Hall, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, IN 46556. We will begin reviewing applications on October 1, 2009 and continue to consider applications until the position is filled.
